Select Creating A Recovery Media, Press Ok, and select NEXT.. Select Windows 8. If you want to reset your lenovo BIOS settings follow the below instructions. First of all, unplug the keyboard, mouse and monitor from the computer. Press the power button and release it, leaving your PC on for about 5 minutes or more. That will bring up the BIOS setup. From there you can reset the BIOS to factory defaults. To do this, first disconnect the network cable to make sure the internet is disconnected. At this point, disconnect all the other USB devices, and remove the battery if you are using it. In the Windows start menu, search for bcdboot from the search bar and open it. If you are using Windows 10, you will see the Lenovo logo next to the word 'Windows'. Next, select Advanced Boot Options. Finally, select Safe Mode and click on OK to exit the BIOS. You should now be able to restart your computer and you should be able to restore your data, etc. I have tried that, but it does not work. I can log into safe mode, but can not fix anything.
